FEDERAL SUPPORTS COVID-19 Information for Members

If you...

The COVID-19 (coronavirus) pandemic may impact your employment. Below are some of the different situations you may face and how to access support via the federal government. This information is accurate as of April 8, 2020.

Have lost your job,
even if you don't qualify for EI

Have a job, but are not being paid and asked to work

Are taking care of someone who is sick with COVID-19

Must stay home without pay to take care of children

Apply for the Canada Emergency Response Benefit (CERB)

- You can apply in one of two ways:
 - online through your CRA MyAccount secure portal;
 - by calling either 1-800-959-2019 or 1-800-959-2041, and providing your SIN number and postal code.
- Pays $2000 ($500/week) for a 4-week period, backdated to March 15.
- Benefits should be available 3-5 business days by direct deposit.
- You are eligible if you satisfy the following conditions:
 - reside in Canada and are 15 years or older;
 - have stopped working due to reasons related to COVID-19;
 - have not quit your job voluntarily;
 - earned a minimum of $5000 income in the last 12 months;
 - won't receive income for 14 days in a row in the eligibility period.
- Eligibility periods are fixed in 4-week periods. If your situation continues, you can reapply for multiple 4-weeks periods up to 16 weeks (4 periods).
- In order to help the system process applications, it's best to apply on the following days based on the month you were born:
 - January, February, or March – Mondays
 - April, May, or June – Tuesdays
 - July, August, or September – Wednesdays
 - October, November, or December – Thursdays
 - Any month – Fridays, Saturdays, and Sundays
- These benefits are taxable and you will need to report any payments received on next year's tax filing.
- If you've already applied for EI, your claim will be moved to the CERB automatically and benefits will be paid from this program first.
- If you're currently on EI, you will continue to receive your EI benefits, and if those benefits end before October 3, you can apply for the CERB.
- The federal government plans to provide benefits in the near future to students, gig workers, entrepreneurs, and others.
